Meet Our Section Editor

A.W. Goddard
UCSF Fresno Psychiatry
Fresno, CA
USA

Andrew Goddard, BMedSc, MB BS, FRANZCP, FAPA, is a board-certified academic psychiatrist. Since 2014, Dr. Goddard has been a Professor of psychiatry at the UCSF Fresno Medicine Education andamp; Research Program, having previously served as a faculty member at the Yale Department of Psychiatry and also at the Indiana University’s Department of Psychiatry. He has published extensively on topics related to the clinical neurobiology and treatment of anxiety disorders, and has been the recipient of numerous anxiety research grants. Dr. Goddard received his medical degree from the University of Melbourne, Australia, and is both a fellow of the Royal Australian and New Zealand College of Psychiatrists and the American Psychiatric Association. He is a member of the following professional societies: The American Psychiatric Association, The Anxiety Depression Association of America, The Society for Biological Psychiatry, The Royal Australian andamp; New Zealand College of Psychiatrists and The International Society of Neuropsycho-pharmacology (CINP).

SELECTED PUBLICATIONS

[14] Goddard AW, Woods SW, Charney DS. A critical review on the role of noradrenaline in panic disorder; focus on its interaction with serotonin. In "Advances in the Neurobiology of Anxiety Disorders". Eds Westenberg HGM, Murphy DL, Den Boer JA. 107-139, 1996. Figure from chapter printed on the front cover. (peer-reviewed)

[34] Goddard AW, Mason GF, Appel M, Rothman DL, Behar, KL, Krystal JH. Effect of family history of psychopathology on magnitude of cortical GABA reductions in panic disorder. Neuropsychopharmacology. 29: 639-640, 2004. (Figure from text was highlighted on the front cover of the journal).

