

Tentative Outline

Special Thematic Issue for the journal Current Respiratory Medicine Reviews

Title of the Thematic Issue: Pediatric respiratory diseases: from clinical experience to literature review

Guest Editor: Salvatore Leonardi, MD, PhD, Prof; Sara Manti, MD, PhD

- Scope of the Thematic Issue:

We strongly believe that research is an important competency that should be mastered by medical professionals. It provides an opportunity for physicians to develop numerous skills including communication, collaboration, time management, and teamwork. Specifically, writing case report, as a research design, describes important scientific observations that are encountered in a clinical setting to expand the knowledge base. Thus, we would like to invite especially young researchers/physicians to write down case report/case series and make a literature review in line with the described clinical case.

All of the case report/case series will be also supervised by a senior physician to guarantee the quality of the paper.

Keywords: clinical practice; children; adult; common respiratory diseases; rare respiratory diseases; literature review
