Ayman M. Hamdan-Mansour completed his Ph.D. in nursing from the University of Pittsburgh. Currently he is a professor in psychiatric mental health nursing at the school of nursing, the University of Jordan. He has published more than 100 peer-reviewed articles and is a keynote speaker in national and international mental health conferences. He has received more than five commendations in the past five years including the distinguished researcher award in Jordan and the distinguished researcher at the University of Jordan two times, and distinguished researcher in Arab World from the Society of the Arab Faculties of Nursing. He has also served as consultant in the field of substance use and mental health services for a number of national and international organizations including the WHO, JICA, UNESCO, NCFA, HPC, and USAIDS. His research includes youth mental health of youth and substance related problems and he has a number of publications in this field.

SELECTED PUBLICATIONS

