Meet Our Associate Editor

Leslie Citrome

New York Medical College, Valhalla
New York, NY 10595
United States

Dr. Citrome is clinical professor of psychiatry and behavioral sciences at New York Medical College in Valhalla, New York, and adjunct clinical professor of psychiatry, Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai in New York City, New York. In addition to his academic positions, he has a private practice in psychiatry in Pomona, New York. He is a Distinguished Life Fellow of the American Psychiatric Association and a fellow of the American Society of Clinical Psychopharmacology where he currently serves as Treasurer and is the President-Elect.

Dr. Citrome earned his medical degree from McGill University in Montreal, Canada, and his master’s degree in public health from the Columbia University School of Public Health, Division of Health Policy and Management in New York, New York.

Dr. Citrome is a consultant in clinical trial design and interpretation. He is a frequent lecturer on the quantitative assessment of clinical trial results using the metrics of evidence-based medicine and has spoken throughout the United States, Canada, Europe, and Asia. His main interests include schizophrenia, bipolar disorder, and major depressive disorder. He is author or coauthor of over 500 research reports, reviews, and chapters in the scientific literature. His Google Scholar h-index is 66.

SELECTED PUBLICATIONS