Meet the Editorial Board Member

Natasha Irrera
Department of Clinical and Experimental Medicine
University of Messina
Messina
Italy

Dr. Natasha Irrera obtained a Ph.D. in biomedical, clinical and experimental sciences from the University of Messina, Italy. Currently, Dr. Irrera is an assistant professor of pharmacology at the Department of Clinical and Experimental Medicine, University of Messina, Italy. Her main scientific interests are inflammatory pathways, tissue remodeling and cell death mechanisms, mechanism of action of drugs and nutraceuticals, and neuropharmacology. Dr. Natasha Irrera has authored about 100 scientific papers in international journals.

SELECTED PUBLICATIONS

